

Container Detention Policy

6th June 2014

To Our Valued Customers,

Matson South Pacific Ltd is continuing to enforce its Detention Policy as the costs associated with containers being held for extended periods of time continues to rise. Details of the Container Detention Policy for both imports and exports are detailed below.

Free Time and Detention Calculation

Consignees will have 14 calendar days from the date of discharge to unpack containers free of charge. Detention charging will commence on the 15th day until each unit has been returned to a Matson nominated container storage facility. Billing will be calculated per calendar day including weekends and public holidays.

Export Containers can be uplifted up to 10 calendar days prior to vessel arrival at the Port of Load. Any container uplifted more than 10 days prior to vessel arrival will incur container detention for the additional days. Any container not shipped with the initial vessel / voyage, will also incur detention from the day of that particular Vessel sailing.
